Homemade Weed Killer Recipe

Be cautious when applying it, and avoid using it in areas with plants you want to keep.

Ingredients:

- 1 gallon of white vinegar (5% acidity is common, though many users recommend 20-30% horticultural vinegar for better results)
- 1 cup of table salt (or epsom salt)
- 1 tablespoon of liquid dish soap

Instructions:

1. Mix the white vinegar and table salt in a large spraying container until the salt is dissolved.
2. Add the liquid dish soap to the mixture and gently stir to combine.
3. On a sunny day, when no rain is expected for at least 24 hours, spray the homemade weed killer directly onto the leaves and stems of the weeds you want to eliminate. Be careful to avoid spraying desirable plants, as this solution can be non-selective and harm any plant it comes into contact with.
4. Allow the solution to sit for a few hours, preferably under the sun, to maximize its effectiveness.
5. After a day or two, you should start to see the weeds wilting and dying.
6. Once the weeds are completely dead, you can pull them out or cut them down.

-Wear gloves and a mask as this is still a poison, do not spray in windy climate.

-Document date/time/location. And pictures of cane grass to document progress of cane grass, and effectiveness. Its imporant to have documentation, to see the effectiveness of this recipe.
